DETAILED ACTION

Claim Suggestions

1. Applicant's attention is drawn to the recitation of ($C(CF_3SO_2)_2^-$, Me) in claim 13 and other places. It appears that there may be a typographical error in this formula, and the correct formula is believed to be the following: $C(CF_3SO_2)_3^-$. Additionally, regarding claim 2, there is a question as to whether the claim recites two species or just one. Correction or clarification is suggested.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

> A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –
> (a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.
> (b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.
> (e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 1-14 and 16-27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) and (e) as being anticipated by Kim et al (U.S. Pre-Grant Publication No. 2003/0073005). The reference is directed to a lithium-sulfur battery comprising an electrolyte having a lithium imide salt and an organic cation salt. See in particular paragraph [0034].

The applied reference has a common inventor with the instant application. Based upon the earlier effective U.S. filing date of the reference, it constitutes prior art under 35 U.S.C. 102(e). This rejection under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) might be overcome either by a showing under 37 CFR 1.132 that any invention disclosed but not claimed in the reference was derived from the inventor of this application and is thus not the invention "by another," or by an appropriate showing under 37 CFR 1.131.

4. Claims 1-14 and 16-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Koch et al (U.S. Patent 5,827,602). The reference is directed to an electrolyte for a nonaqueous battery (see abstract). The electrolyte comprises a molten organic salt and an organic solvent (see col. 5, line 11). The molten salt may comprise cations such as 1-ethyl 3-methyl imidazolium (EMI) and 1,2-dimethyl 3-propylimidazolium (DMPI) (see Table 2). The electrolyte may further comprise a lithium imide salt in an amount of, e.g., 250 mM (see col. 4, line 64). The organic solvent may comprise a number of solvents including dioxolane and dimethoxyethane (see col. 5, line 21). Regarding the recitation of "for use in a lithium-sulfur battery" in the preambles of claims 1, 4, and 20, this recitation is given little patentable weight as it recites the future intended use of the electrolyte. As such, the instant claims are anticipated.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

> (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claim 15 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kim et al or Koch et al.

The references is applied as stated above. However, the references do not expressly teach the respective molarities of the first and second salts as recited in claim 15.

However, the invention as a whole would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made because the artisan would be sufficiently skilled to adjust the relative quantities of each salt to affect characteristics such as conductivity and viscosity. It has been held that the discovery of an optimum value of a result effective variable in a known process is ordinarily within the skill of the art. In re Boesch, 205 USPQ 215 (CCPA 1980). As such, the claimed ranges would be rendered obvious.

Double Patenting

7. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

8. Claims 1-27 are provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over the claims of copending Application Nos. 10/096,663, 10/434,086, and 10/659,363. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.
